The United States Trust Company Threatens Trouble.

foot of Whitehall street. 'What!" That money not here" he exclaimed, as a scrutiny of his desk developed nothing in the nature of green-

Well, well, well! This is what I call tramping upon and triffing with the interests of the people. That man Carroll has no more regard for the public than he has for my feelings. Here 1 give Carroll possession in peace and until then. Our boats are still running, and will continue to run. Mark voil that is unless we are enjoined from so doing, and then the matter will be thrown into the court.

"Why, this thing of the city of New York throttling the commerce of the great metropolis by making railroad and ferry companies pay tribute is an obsolete notion. It is one hundred and fifty years behind the times, and when this case is finally disposed of in the courts ferries will be free to all who wish to operate them."

When Supt. Gannon had thus delivered himself to an "Evening World" reporter he added:

will not attempt to evade the ser of that $175,000 upon me by Mr. Car but will sit here a week if neces roll, but will sit here a week if necessary."

When informed that he could have obtained the money by going to the Comptroller's office he said:

"What is Hecuba to me or I to—that is, I mean I don't keep shop in the Comptroller's office."

Howard Carroll was informed that Mr. Gannon was anxiously waiting in the Rapid-Transit Company's office for the payment of the purchase money.

"Well, he has a nerve!" ejaculated Mr. Carroll.

"Well, he has a nerve?" ejaculated Mr. Carroll.
"Now $175,000 is not a small sum. What guarantee have we that those follows down there won't grab the tabuey and keep it, as they are now keeping the ferry slip, in violation of hav. That maney was in the office of the Comptroller yesterday, and Gannon should have gone there and received it.
"Gannon is acting in defiance of law. Why don't he give us our property? Let him come and get the money right now. But hold on, I'll go see my lawyers. There may be some developments after 2 o clock.
"When asked if the actions of Mr. When asked if the actions of Mr.

But hold on I'll go see my lawyers. There may be some developments after 2 o'clock.

When asked if the actions of Mr. Gannon and himself in avoiding each other did not smack of opera bouffe. Mr. Carroll said:

"Maybe they do, but it would be more like opera-bouffe if Gaunen got possession of the money and refused to give up the property."

So the Rapid Transit Company continues to run its boats and, presumably. Howard Carroll still has steam up on his fieet of six.

Comptroller Fitch stated to-day that he is prepared to oust the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company from the White-hall street property fust as soon as the paweent of the ourchase money is made. "They are $24.000 in arrears in their payments to the city," he said. "and under such circumstances they cannot hold the ferry slips until Nov. I, though they have paid their rental. As to the operation of a free ferry that is a maiter you will have to see the Corporation Counsel about."

Supt. Gannon declares that his company is only in arrears to the extent of $12.000, and that it is due more to an oversight than anything else.

After a long discussion in the offices of Davier, Stone & Auerbach, Messrs Nicoll, Auerbach & Carroll went to the office of A. B. Boardman, counsel for the Rapid Transit Company, where Mr. Carroll tendered $175,000 in cash.

Mr. Boardman effered to give a receipt for that amount and asked to begiven until Thursday at noon before leaving the ferry slip at Whitchall street.

To this arrangement Carroll and his counsel obsected. After a long argument

To this arrangement Carroll and his counsel objected. After a long argument they decided to pay the money and take possession on Thursday at noon. This was agreed to by the Rapid Transit Company.

There is an apparent hitch to the matter, however, inasmuch as the United States Trust Company, holders of a mortgage against the Rapid Transit Company, served notice that Carroll would pay the $175,000 at his peril. So the transfer may not take place on Thursday after all.

Weiss was driven across the street, receiving blows and kicks as he ran, into a cigar store, and sought refuge behind a woman.

Policeman Green, of the Eldridge street station, came running up and the crowd dispersed. Weiss was escorted to his home.

The cutter was subsequently taken from the grocery store and also escorted home by a policeman.

No arrests were made, but an agent of Bernstein, Adler & Co. appeared on the scene and endeavored to obtain the names of the men who assaulted Weiss and the cutter.

Essex Market Police Court was crowded with striking cloakmakers to-day when Leopoid Taveletta, of 150 Wooster street, and Francisco Sketona, of 117 Elizabeth street, cloakmakers, were arraigned before Justice Simms on the charge of feloniously assaulting Policeman Thomas Heaphy, of the Madison street station. Heaphy stood at the bar of the court with his coat thrown loosely over his left shoulder, which he said had been dislocated by a blow from a baic-stick in the hands of Sketona.

Justice Simms held the prisoners in $25.88 hall cach for examination.

Nathan Schilissel was also held to awail examination on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Cohen. David Eogert was held on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Cohen. At the headquarters of the Executive Committees of the Cloakmakers' Union and the Cutters' Association, 46 Franklin street, President Dion W. Burke, of the cutters, said to-day that the manufacturers were coming in quite freely and signing the new agreement. Over 3,000 men will return to the shops of these employers.

The cutters are successful in wiping out cutting on the east side and in preventing a man from being a manufacturer and a contractor at the same time. Immigrant cutters also receive union wages. Over 160 non-union men joined the union to-day.

Eighty-three manufacturers have organized the Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Association, with Daniel Richman as President and Andrew Crawford as Sectary. They deciare they will not treat with the unions, but will receive committees of their employees and make terms with them.
